ADVERTISING

Abstract Number

60 Consumer perception and recall as a function of selected variables. John Thomas Russell, Ph.D., University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

76 Advertising testing. Harold Martin Wilson, Ph.D., University of North Carolina.

83 The advertising industry vs. the advertising tax. Leonard P. Alfano, M.S., University of Kansas.

110 The instability of factor components in persuasive communication. Leslie Wayne Bohn, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

115 The effects of product involvement on the evaluation of "rational" and "non-rational" advertising appeals. Lawrence Bowen, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

117 An investigation of the college market with special concern for its attitudes toward air travel advertising and promotion. Robert S. Boyd, M.A., University of Florida.

147 Computer application to spot television time-buying: an examination of the development of Nielsen's telavail systems. Christopher Sumner Dann, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

202 Advertising practices, appropriations, and philosophies of twenty selected Morgantown, West Virginia retailers. Jon Jeffrey Hirshberg, MSJ, West Virginia University.

205 Current use of marketing information sources by selected advertising agencies: a pilot study. Richard E. Houser, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

207 Aspects of women's preferences in the narration of cosmetic commercials. Charles A. Husak Jr., M.A., University of Florida.

271 A Q-methodological approach to the use of advertising in politics. Lynne Edeen O'Shea, M.A., University of Missouri.

276 A content analysis of the Federal Trade Commissions's National Consumer Protection Hearings, 1968. Carol Elaine Parker, M.A., University of North Carolina.

284 Decision-making of the multi-national executive: a quantitative approach. Steven E. Permut, M.S., University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

296 Habitual market behavior. George L. Reynolds, M.A., University of Iowa.

301 Analysis of media usage and creative techniques of modern supermarkets: including projections for the future. Linda J. Rose, M.A., Syracuse University.

Abstract Number

312 A descriptive study of shopping center promotion with particular emphasis upon the regional shopping center promotion director. Dennis Arthur Sercombe, M.A., University of Florida.

320 A study of chiropractic advertising in South Carolina daily and selected non-daily newspapers. Michael Willis Singletary, M.A., University of South Carolina.

330 Testimonial advertising's effect on the consumer. Eric Stenberg, M.A., University of Missouri.

339 How Honda sold the motorcycle: American Honda marketing and advertising campaign. Atsuhiko Tateuchi, M.A., University of Washington.

340 Effectiveness of a specialized agency among Black consumers. Steven Jay Thor, M.A., University of Missouri.

346 An evaluation of the loss of interest in television commercials using different renderings of the same selling message. Joseph S. Trum, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

348 The emergence of the media buying services and the influence upon advertisers, agencies and the media. Peter Braton Turk, M.S., University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

See also Abstracts 126, 129, 179, 251

AUDIENCE ANALYSIS

20 The influence of social class, the family, and exposure to television violence on the socialization of aggression. Joseph R. Dominick, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

35 Television viewing and occupational knowledge among Japanese children. Junichi Kawashima, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

37 Wisconsin farmers' use and understanding of broadcast market information: a survey of Wisconsin farmers and radio and television stations. Eugene A. Kroupa, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

46 Patterns in newspaper readership: a national survey of readership by demographic groups. Ernest Cecil Morgan, Ph.D., The University of Texas at Austin.

61 An empirical study of the relationship of personal values, news content, and media credibility perception. Michael Ryan, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

Abstract
Number

78 A systematic method for creating new ideas for television programs from audience interest in leisure activities. John Kimball Worden, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

84 An evaluation of the monthly publication of the Baton Rouge area Chamber of Commerce by heads of firms. Smiley G. Anders Jr., M.A., Louisiana State University.

89 A factor analysis of comic strip readership. Nancy Carol Baize, M.S., Southern Illinois University.

105 Use of the mass media in nursing homes in Georgia. Melinda Thach Birchmore, M.A., University of Georgia.

161 Inter-media usage patterns of politically conservative, liberal and neutral persons. Ronald Coke Ellington, M.A., University of Georgia.

170 A factor-analytic study among black community leaders of perceived roles and functions of newsmen and news sources in the city government news process. David L. Fruend, M.S., Southern Illinois University.

185 The mass media as Scripture: communications behavior of the secularized clergyman. George Grimsrud, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

194 The role of information in marketing decisions of Wisconsin farmers. James Frederick Haskins, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

199 A media habits pilot study of delinquent children in Jefferson County, Colorado. Kent Thomas Higgins, M.A., University of Colorado.

231 Occupation and ethnicity as correlates of mass media usage and credibility patterns. Howard Henry Lindsay II, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

243 A study of the reactions of Alberta residents to a proposal for a full color recreational magazine for Alberta, Canada. Rodney Brian McClung, M.A., Brigham Young University.

247 A survey of the media habits of three groups: high school students, college students and college faculty. Robert Grant Mellen, M.A., University of Alabama.

282 A study of a randomized sample of the readership of the Sulphur Springs Daily News Telegram indicating areas of reading interest, attitudes about the content of the newspaper, and suggestions for change in the paper. William Claude Penn, M.A., East Texas State University.

299 The impact of the KU senate code on the image of academic freedom. Virginia Ridgway, M.S., University of Kansas.

302 A Q-technique study of communications students' attitudes regarding selected media statements of Marshall McLuhan presented in Counterblast. Marguerite Anne Ruffner, M.A., Kent State University.

325 A study of comprehension and use of weather information by various agricultural groups in Wisconsin. Jean L. Smith, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract
Number

337 Mass media habits of military personnel in a closed post environment. William Dennis Swift, M.A., University of Alabama.

See also Abstracts 15, 29, 33, 54, 60, 68, 93, 96, 113, 114, 117, 133, 135, 144, 160, 181, 182, 207, 230, 239, 249, 263, 301, 309, 315, 316, 330, 341, 350, 354, 358, 373

COMMUNICATION THEORY

1 The effects of communication style and level of student dogmatism upon the academic achievement and interpersonal relationship objectives of effective tutoring. Gustav O. Alexander, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

4 The concept of process in human communication research. Robert Burton Arundale, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

7 An approach to conflict resolution using the dialogue as an intervention mechanism. David J. F. Beatty, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

11 Message manipulations in communication of a complex political issue. Barbara Everitt Bryant, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

15 A predictive model of human relevance decisions. Kenneth Harold Cook, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

29 The effects of sentence context on ambiguous, vague, and clear nouns. Louis Blaine Goss, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

31 The role of encoding and decoding aggressive messages on subsequent hostility. Roger D. Haney, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

32 Uncertainty as a predictor of arousal and aggression. Gerhard J. Hanneman, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

33 Source-message orientation, communication media, and attitude change. James L. Hoyt, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

34 The effects of uncertainty and choice points on cognitive processing. Natan Israel Katzman, Ph.D., Stanford University.

42 Parameters of normal family communication in the dyad. Robert A. Mark, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

44 Incentive as a mitigator of the extent to which one's attitudes are inferred from one's behavior: studies in the theory of self-perception. R. Samuel Mehrley, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

45 Communication of an educational innovation in an institution of higher learning. William Grant Mitchell, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

49 Family communication orientations and interpersonal agreement, accuracy and congruency. Garrett James O'Keefe, Jr., Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

52 Differential effort in counterattitudinal advocacy: effects on attitude change and extinction. Bonita L. Perry, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

Abstract Number

66 Attribution of causal responsibility for behavior in actors and observers. Drury Ridgway Sherrod III, Ph.D., Stanford University.

69 Ambiguity as a predictor of syllogistic difficulty. Thomas M. Steinfatt, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

73 A comparison of the relative immunizing effect of counterattitudinal advocacy with the passive reception of a persuasive message. Eugene D. Tate, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

80 Employee participation in organizational decision making and acceptance of planned change. Shan-pang Yien, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

250 Components of source credibility and source- and message-orientations. M. Thomas Milbourn, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

291 Cognitive structure and political mass communications behavior. Rebecca Colwell Quarles, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

300 An experimental study in rumor dispersal: the effects of photographic sharpness and interpersonal communication upon the serial reproduction of information. Sherman M. Robbins, M.S., Ohio University.

309 A multiple regression analysis of the relationship between the degree of interest in six categories of news stories and three components of Melvin Seeman's conception of alienation. William Schanilec, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

322 Attribute analysis: toward an understanding of percept selection. John William Slater, M.A., University of North Carolina.

353 An analysis of level of activity as it relates to information source and two-step flow of communication in a formal organization. Carma Lois Wadley, W.A., Brigham Young University.

371 A factor-analytic study of the dimensions of conflict in news. W. Russell Wright, M.S., Southern Illinois University.

374 The relation of verbal context to interpreted meaning of some archaic New Testament words: some semantic implications. Dean R. Zimmerman, M.A., Brigham Young University.

See also Abstracts 20, 36, 38, 41, 61, 75, 221, 356

COMMUNICATOR ANALYSIS

2 Liaison communication roles of professionals in a research dissemination organization. Edwin H. Amend, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

16 The gate keeper and authority: television news director/general manager dimensions of association. Charles F. Cremer, Ph.D., University of Iowa

Abstract Number

27 Social control in the television newsroom. Daniel E. Garvey Jr., Ph.D., Stanford University.

41 Communication roles and communication content in a bureaucratic setting. Donald MacDonald, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

47 Professional orientation of metropolitan Turkish journalists: a communicator analysis. Oguz B. Nayman, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

102 Rod McKuen and the mass media: an analysis and commentary. Thomas Gray Bennett, M.A., University of Georgia.

121 The religion writers and the secular press: an analytical and interactional study of the religion writer's role as perceived by the writers, their superiors, and religious leaders. Elizabeth E. Brenner, M.A., Michigan State University.

127 Report of a survey of news preferences among Catholic diocesan editors in the U.S. Robert J. Byrne, M.A., Marquette University.

132 News values of editors-reporters on five Oklahoma newspapers. Lorenzo Edward Carter, M.S., Oklahoma State University.

155 The roles and decision making of three television beat reporters. Dan G. Drew, M.A., Indiana University.

183 Professionalism: a case study of its effects on newspaper performance. William S. Graf, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

189 A socio-economic profile of technical writers in the Los Angeles-Orange County area of California. Selwyn Handler, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

212 An examination of Los Angeles and Ventura county daily newspaper editors' perceptions of beginning reporter qualifications. Michael P. Kardis, M.A., University of California, Los Angeles.

213 A multi-media investigation of the relationships between specified personality characteristics and news selection patterns among newsmen. Arthur J. Kaul, M.S., Southern Illinois University.

215 Communications patterns of planning officials related to planning effectiveness. Larry Kincaid, M.A., Michigan State University.

232 Professional orientation of newsmen on state dailies: a Wisconsin newsmen study. Beatrice A. Linehan, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

268 A survey of demographic characteristics and attitudes of Indiana daily newspaper farm editors. James B. Oliver, M.A., Indiana University.

269 Profile of the reporter from a survey of three midwestern newspapers. Louise W. Ondrik, M.A., Indiana University.

279 Nebraska Daily newspaper executives: a profile. Jim D. Patten, M.S. Iowa State University.

Abstract
Number

281 How the role of the gatekeepers in four cities affected news transmission to the whole nation. René Emile Pelissier, M.A., Michigan State University.

297 News values and news decisions of selected Associated Press and United Press International newsmen in Oklahoma. George Roger Rhoades, M.S., Oklahoma State University.

328 The Florida newspaper woman of 1970. Jean Jarvis Sneed, M.A., University of Florida.

325 Newsgathering at the Pentagon. Douglas L. Strole, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

347 Socioeconomic characteristics of writers of letters-to-the-editor of the Eugene Register Guard. Curtis Wayne Tuck, M.S., University of Oregon.

360 Religion news in U.S. daily newspapers with circulations over 25,000. Arthur Charles Widiger, M.A., Louisiana State University.

367 The reporter in encounter groups. Diane L. Woelfel, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

See also Abstracts 36, 64, 71, 181, 196, 236, 290

COMMUNITY JOURNALISM

74 The press and business leadership: joint contributions to a civic program. John B. Webster, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

168 The effects of community and editor-publisher attitudes on the community weekly newspaper. James M. Fisher, M.A., Brigham Young University.

290 Missouri Community journalists' attitudes toward their work. Henry C. Putnam, M.A., University of Missouri.

357 The supplementary press: self-perceived roles of community and suburban newspapers in Florida. Gary L. Watson, M.A., University of Florida.

361 Survey of problems in the newspaper industry in Florida. Patricia Walker Wilkinson, M.A., University of Florida.

See also Abstracts 85, 227, 279, 282

CONTENT ANALYSIS

3 Coverage of the 1968 democratic and republican presidential campaigns by Texas daily newspapers: an evaluation related to social responsibility theory. Odes Charles Arrendell, Ph.D., The University of Texas at Austin.

9 The San Francisco Press in two presidential elections: a study of the effects of newspaper concentration on diversity in editorial-page comment. Dennis E. Brown, Ph.D., University of Missouri.

Abstract
Number

17 The relationships between specified connotative structure and language encoding behaviors. Herbert W. Cummings, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

19 A content analysis of newspaper stories described as "interpretative." John Edward De Mott, Ph.D., Northwestern University.

30 Television's world view: one month of network international news. Stephen Frederic Haisman, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

54 A sociolinguistic study of elaborated and restricted code systems. Duane Pettersen, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

79 A readability formula for Chinese language. Shou-Jung Yang, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

99 A content analysis of three action line columns. John T. Bellay, M.A., Kent State University.

112 Daily newspaper coverage of the 1970 Texas gubernatorial campaign. John Harold Bolen, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

116 An analysis of letters sent to Hubert Horatio Humphrey. James K. Bowers, M.A., University of Minnesota.

140 Documenting the increased presence of unfavorable reports/comments on major U.S. military activity as found in widely circulated daily newspapers and two national news magazines: a study in quantitative/qualitative content analysis. David C. Cole, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

162 Advice column trends and content analysis of Ann Landers. Sarah Jean English, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

298 A comparison of the Osgood technique and a modified technique for the analysis of evaluative assertions in message content. Gerald Alan Richardson, M.A., University of Washington.

334 A content analysis of newspaper coverage of the Gulf of Tonkin crisis, August 3-13, 1964, in five selected major metropolitan newspapers. Sarah Lynn Stookey, M.A., The University of Oklahoma.

368 Visibility of U.S. senators in six western prestige newspapers. Mary Anne Wood, M.A., Indiana University.

See also Abstracts 56, 100, 109, 111, 120, 142, 149, 154, 159, 164, 225, 229, 237, 240, 255, 276, 351, 355, 360

COURTS AND LAW

23 Access to the mass media: a case study. Frederic Ernst Fedler, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

28 Protection of news sources: the history and legal status of the newsman's privilege. A. David Gordon, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

53 Inspection of public records in the states: the law and the news media. Michael J. Petrick, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract
Number

58 Social science information and first amendment freedoms: an aid to Supreme Court decision-making. Jan C. Robbins, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

145 The "right to be let alone" versus the public's "right to know": privacy and the media in California. John L. Crosby, M.C., University of Washington.

198 Privileged Communications for journalists. Mary Beth McEnnis Herzog, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

336 News piracy as an aspect of unfair competition. Paul William Sullivan, M.A., University of Florida.

343 Public access to the mass media: the political meaning of freedom of the press. Mary E. Trapp, M.A., University of Iowa.

351 A case study in pretrial criminal news reporting: the Rio Arriba county courthouse raid of June 5, 1967, involving Reies Lopez Tijerina. Reuben V. Valdez, MSJ, West Virginia University.

CRITICISM AND DEFENSE OF MEDIA

10 Press performance in self criticism: an analysis. Lee M. Brown, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

24 Chicago newspapers' coverage of the city's major civil disorders of 1968. James Allen Flanery, Ph.D., Northwestern University.

75 Differential distortion of news information by medium of origin. C. Edward Wilson, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

96 A study of the reactions to vice president Agnew's November 13, 1969 criticism of the television networks. Leona J. Baxter, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

98 Reporting the USS Pueblo Court of Inquiry: U.S. press performance from January 20 to March 15, 1969. Alfred E. Becker, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

103 The influence of daily newspaper competition in Oshkosh (Wisconsin) 1967-1971. Kenneth Allen Biendarra, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

144 Differences in black and white viewers' perception of television network news objectivity. Roger Stephen Craig, M.A., University of Florida.

236 Discrimination against women in the newsroom. Joann Lublin, A.M., Stanford University.

289 The GI antiwar press: what it says and why. Lee A. Preble, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

318 Is the Oakland Tribune a politically responsible newspaper? John W. Silva, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

Abstract
Number

323 The fifth estate: underground newspapers as an alternative press in California. Paul Slater, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

326 Analysis of newspaper coverage of the 1968 California republican senatorial primary election. Michael Allen Smith, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

See also Abstracts 9, 23, 26, 58, 98, 170, 192, 224, 261, 264, 275, 281, 302, 320, 334, 335, 342, 343, 359, 369

CROSS-NATIONAL STUDIES

43 Cross-cultural cognitive development: two experiments. Emile G. McAnany, Ph.D., Stanford University.

55 Controlled mass communication in international conflict: an analysis of editorials in India and Pakistan newspapers. Nagulapalli Bhaskara Rao, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

56 The U.S. image in eleven leading Colombian daily newspapers. Elden Everette Rawlings, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

159 The coverage of Nigeria-Biafra war news in five U.S. prestige newspapers from January, 1967, to January, 1970, inclusive. Ndubisi J.C. Egemonye, M.A., University of North Carolina.

229 Comparative study of certain Korean and American newspapers early in the Korean war. Seong-Hyong Lee, M.A., Kent State University.

235 Coverage of the 1969 French presidential campaign and election by ten prestige newspapers. Howard H. Loving, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

259 An application of principles of conflict resolution to the North Pacific Salmon dispute between Japan and the United States. Toshio Nishi, M.A., University of Washington.

EDITORIAL POLICY AND METHODS

70 The editorial paragraph: a century and more of development. Walter H. Stewart, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

72 The effects of three titling factors on the reading decision in Colombia, S.A. Stephen Robb Sywulka, Ph.D., Syracuse University.

88 Comparative characteristics of the alternate press 1970. Richard Henry Askin Jr., M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

101 A study of variables in the interviewing process: the naive interviewer versus the evasive news source. Roger E. Bennett, M.S., Ohio University.

196 An experimental analysis of the editing procedure and the rationale behind the editing procedure at one medium size daily area newspaper. James W. Hatton, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

Abstract
Number

201 The validities of passive voice usage exemplified in news headlines. Walter Boyd Hinton Jr., M.A., University of Georgia.

338 A survey of the production by Seventh-Day Adventists of easy reading materials for new adult readers. Myrle Evelyn Tabler, M.A., Syracuse University.

See also Abstracts 19, 46, 99, 121, 127, 149, 154, 256, 307, 347

EDUCATION FOR JOURNALISM

14 The American Council of Education for Journalism: an accrediting history. Earl Lewis Conn, Ed.D., Indiana University.

64 Prediction of undergraduate journalism grade point average at Southern Illinois University. Michael B. Shelly, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

108 Relationships between Florida public junior college mass communications education programs and the college of journalism and communications at the University of Florida. Margaret Anne Blanchard, M.A., University of Florida.

133 Perceived role of the student editor of The Daily O'Collegian. Susan Huser Carter, M.S., Oklahoma State University.

181 A study of college journalism student attitudes. Michael Jerry Goodman, M.A., University of California, Los Angeles.

184 Controls exercised by advisers of Indiana High School newspapers. Linda Gregory, M.A., Indiana University.

191 An analysis of creativity research and its relevance to journalism education. George Baxter Harper III, M.A., University of Georgia.

193 An investigative study of the extent to which high school publications in Idaho are subject to content control. Donnelly LeRoy Harris, M.A., Brigham Young University.

203 Survey to determine the design and implementation of a mass communications course in the high school. Mary Louise Hollowell, M.A., University of Florida.

220 A developmental study defining objectives for mass media instruction suitable to the intermediate level of public schools in the United States. Mary Annabel Koehler, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

223 Construction and testing of a unit for intermediate students on discriminating between fact and non-fact in mass media messages. Marjorie M. Larson, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

240 A correlational study of publication boards and contents of campus newspapers at California community colleges. John Mauch, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

Abstract
Number

252 The state of mass communications education in the junior colleges of Georgia: 1970. Mary Louise Miller, M.A., University of Georgia.

257 A core course in communication study for use in the junior college. Sharon Feyen Murphy, M.A., University of Iowa.

262 A comparative study of critique versus lecture in an experimental course in advertising copy writing. Franklin R. Norwood, M.A., University of Georgia.

265 A study of printing management graduates of South Dakota State University. Bruce O. Oberlander, M.S., South Dakota State University.

277 The history of the Department of Journalism, Southern Illinois University. Earl E. Parkhill, M.S., Southern Illinois University.

278 An evaluative study assessing the cognitive and attitudinal effects of a college level writing course using a programmed text. Rosalie Passovoy, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

283 The college press: perceived functions by various publics within the University. Audrey Pennington, M.S., Oklahoma State University.

293 The attitudes of Indiana University journalism dropouts toward journalism as a college major and career. Susan H. Reeves, M.A., Indiana University.

327 Kansas high school journalism: journalism workshop design. Sharon L. Smith, M.S., Kansas State University.

354 An Indiana High School newspaper and its underground newspaper; an attitude study. Kathryn MacKinnon Wall, M.A., Indiana University.

364 A suggested syllabus for a course in media-oriented communication theory. L. Jay Williams, M.A., Brigham Young University.

See also Abstracts 141, 153, 212, 218

FOREIGN PRESS AND INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATION

5 The role of mass media and personal channels in agricultural development in Jordan. Shawki Mohammad Barghouti, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

6 The mass media, their environment and prospects in western Polynesia. Ralph Dale Barney, Ph.D., University of Missouri.

21 The role of the mass media in national development: a reformulation with particular reference to Sierra Leone. Edward Fenner Douglass III, Ph.D., University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

22 The press in gold coast nationalism, 1890-1957. Sylvanus A. Ekwelie, Ph.D. University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

36 Leadership and communication in the collective adoption process of development associations in Eastern Nigeria. Graham B. Kerr, Ph.D., Michigan.

39 The communication of the Roman Catholic church to the world, 1968-1970. John Alfred Lee, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

48 A perspective on communication and the development process: family communication patterns and role-taking in an urban subculture. R. Nwafo Nwankwo, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

63 Influence of tribalism, lingua franca, and mass communication on national development of east African states of Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania. Martha Janice Shelby, Ph.D., The University of Texas at Austin.

65 Toward a reconceptualization of the role of change agents in the diffusion and adoption of innovations. Teresa Chou Shen, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

67 System variables and educational innovativeness in Thai government secondary schools. F. Floyd Shoemaker, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

71 The socio-professional aspects of foreign correspondence in the U.S.: a study of international communication. Chung Woo Suh, Ph.D., University of Minnesota.

104 Vecernje Novosti: prototype of Yugoslavia's liberated Communist press. Charles J. Bierbauer, M.A., Pennsylvania State University.

109 News flow and development: a content analysis of four Indian dailies. Sharon R. Blinco, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

122 Pre-launch news -- a study of American metropolitan newspaper coverage of Russian space rocketry before the Sputnik I launching. Daniel Warren Brown, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

136 An informational approach for family planning in South Vietnam. George Pei-chang Chu, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

151 A French newspaper during the Fourth Republic: Le Monde, its beginnings, readership, and tendencies. Max Andre de Gialluly, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

157 Intelsat definitive arrangements: 1969 meetings Kathleen Jane Dunlap, M.A., University of North Carolina.

158 The impact of government participation on the African press. David O. Edeani, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

179 Advertising's role in the economic development of Brazil and Mexico. Donald Ray Glover, M.S., University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

188 Organization and administration of the international educational and cultural affairs program of the United States government. George H. Hallanan Jr., M.A., University of Wisconsin.

217 A descriptive analysis of America Illustrated's editorial procedures and physical production. Dorothy Louise Kingsbury, M.S., University of Utah.

Abstract Number

221 Individual political development: a revision of Lerner's model. Bernadine M. Kopec, M.A., University of North Carolina.

234 The press in Southeast Asia: its problems and functions. Joanne M. Lopez, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

239 Attitudes of African students towards the relationship between government and the press in Africa: a factor analytic study. F.L. Masha, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

285 A comparative content analysis of Thai newspapers in 1960 and 1969. Pongsak Phaysakvichien, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

311 Problems in the establishment of television in Israel. Gil Sedan, M.A., University of Missouri.

314 India's union government ministers and the press: news visibility of a major political elite in eight English-language newspapers. Hasmukh C. Shah, M.A., Indiana University.

316 Information seeking behavior of selected South Vietnamese students in the United States. Bishnu P. Shitaula, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

See also Abstracts 30, 47, 55, 62, 129, 134, 159, 167, 217, 228, 229, 243, 259, 284, 287, 292, 338

GOVERNMENT AND MEDIA

86 Commercial television and the community: a study of recent license renewal applications before the Federal Communications Commission. Patricia Anne Apt, M.S., Iowa State University.

90 Herbert Hoover's engineering of public opinion: federal government public relations, 1921-1928. Brent Baker, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

92 The journalists judge the Carr-Sigler one-man grand jury, 1943-1948: a study. Harry Thomas Bannister Jr., M.A., Michigan State University.

94 The Dallas News and council-manager government. Carolyn Jenkins Barta, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

124 A profile of the voting history of Washington County and a correlation of the newspapers' editorial role with that vote. Christine Buchanan, M.S., Kansas State University.

154 Analysis of coverage by selected daily newspapers of the 1966 Iowa Supreme Court decision in Painter V. Bannister. James Edward Doyle, M.S., Iowa State University.

172 Safeguarding defense information. John A. Gangloff, M.A., University of Missouri.

248 How members view legislative news coverage in Texas. John Merwin, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

319 Admirals, information officers, and the news media. Robert B. Sims, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

321 Television and presidential politics, 1952-1970. Afton Auld Sizemore, M.A., University of Kansas.

See also Abstracts 3, 83, 96, 112, 140, 156, 157, 158, 188, 204, 286, 321, 333, 368

Abstract
Number

HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY

12 Henry Justin Smith (1875-1936), managing editor of the Chicago Daily News. Chi-ying Chu (Jim), Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

13 Noah Webster: Journalist, 1783-1803. Gary Coll, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

25 The first lady as a leader of public opinion: a study of the role and press relations of Lady Bird Johnson. Norma Ruth Holly Foreman, Ph.D., The University of Texas at Austin.

26 News and editorial treatment of alleged reds and radicals by selected newspapers and periodicals during 1918-21. John P. Fought, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

40 A study of the relationship between General Ulysses S. Grant and various Illinois newspapers covering the period March 1864 to November, 1868. Barnard Kelly Leiter, Ph.D., Southern Illinois University.

57 Better Homes and Gardens and its editors: an historical study from the magazine's founding to 1970. Sister Carol Reuss, S.P., Ph.D., University of Iowa.

62 Growth of the vernacular press in colonial East Africa: patterns of government control. James F. Scotton, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

81 Boston's second major paper war: economics, politics, and the theory and practice of political expression in the press, 1763-1775. Mary Ann Patricia Yodelis, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

85 The American Eagle: a unique Florida weekly newspaper. Kenneth Edwin Anderson, M.A., University of Florida.

87 History of the Davis County Clipper from its inception in 1891 to the present 1970. Cammon I. Arrington, M.A., Brigham Young University.

91 Two Kansas journalists who happen to be women. Jo Helen Lerret Baker, M.S., University of Kansas.

123 The Reverend Charles E. Coughlin and the 1936 election. Reverend Gerald L. Brown, SS., M.A., University of Washington.

128 Red shadows: Joe McCarthy and television. Patricia Cahill-Spencer, M.A., University of Kansas.

137 Perspective on Father Coughlin: the radio priest in the Periodical Press and Social Justice. Roy Chustek, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

143 Norman Mailer: the novel as journalism. Peter T. Costa, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

Abstract
Number

148 A biography and collection of the best writings of A.B. Macdonald. David A. Dary, M.A., University of Kansas.

165 Allen Merriam, Editor Emeritus. James S. Featherston, M.S., East Texas State University.

171 Texas Siftings: an example of the independent press. Joseph Dorcas Fuller III, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

174 An analysis of the role of The Nation and The New York Evening Post in the 1884 presidential campaign. David P. Garino, M.A., Marquette University.

176 Biography of a newspaper: The Courier, Connellsville, Pennsylvania, 1879-1970. David Leslie Geary, MSJ, West Virginia University.

178 A history of the Park Record, Park City, Utah, from 1880 to 1970. Richard Wesley Gibbs, M.A., Brigham Young University.

187 The Austin Daily Tribune: a success in spite of itself. James Nelson Gsell, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

192 Reporting social strife in five labor conflicts, 1914-1966. Robert B. Harper, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

200 Obadiah B. Brown: pioneer Baptist denominational editor and U.S. Post Office official. John C. Hilhouse Jr., M.A., Indiana University.

204 U.S. editorial evaluation of the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan from March, 1947, to March, 1948. John J. Hoogland, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

211 Newsgathering in the deep southern press, 1820-1860. Mary Elizabeth Junck, M.A., University of North Carolina.

217 A historical study of the first fifty years of the Greenville (Illinois) Advocate, 1858-1908. Allan Hoiles Keith Jr., M.S., Southern Illinois University.

218 The Sunflower: a history of the student newspaper at Wichita State University. James Michael Kiser, MSJ, West Virginia University.

224 News management in the company press: the Anaconda Copper Mining Company's Missoulian, Billings Gazette, and Helena Independent, Independent-Record, 1938-1944. William E. Larson, M.A., University of Montana.

228 History of Korean Newspapers. Kang Bok Lee, M.A., East Texas State University.

238 The role of New York editors in the founding of the Republican party. Richard Cook Lytle, M.A., Pennsylvania State University.

244 News through a woman's eyes. (A Biographical Study of Kathryn Cravens: Actress, News Commentator, War Correspondent, and Writer) Gordon Lee McCullough, M.A., East Texas State University.

245 A history of The Atlanta (Georgia) Times. James B. McCumber Jr., M.A., University of Georgia.

Abstract
Number

254 The Montana Free Press Newspaper chain, 1928-1929. Barbara Jane Mittal, M.A., University of Montana.

255 Ralph McGill: front page, left-hand column, 1950-1960. James Jackson Mooney, M.A., University of Georgia.

266 Combat reporting: the Battle of the Rosebud - 1867. Robert J. O'Brien Jr., M.A., University of Wisconsin.

267 Problems of South Carolina editors who reported the Civil War. Catherine Patricia Oliver, M.A., University of South Carolina.

273 St. Luke: journalist of the first century church. Roger Curtis Palms, M.A., Michigan State University.

274 The newspaper press and the trial of Andrew Johnson. Charles Paolino, M.A., Pennsylvania State University.

286 Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the press: the 1936 presidential campaign. Michael E. Phelps, M.A., Michigan State University.

294 Henry Villard: civil war journalist. Thomas William Reilly, M.S., University of Oregon.

295 News reporting and editorial interpretation of the Palmer raids, 1919-1920 by three Detroit daily newspapers: a study. Alexander Remelgas, M.A., Michigan State University.

305 Detroit daily newspaper news coverage and editorial interpretation of woman's suffrage campaign 1912. Linda Gauger Ryden, M.A., Michigan State University.

313 A history of the Wall Street Journal. Kathryn L. Shadoan, M.A., Pennsylvania State University.

317 The impact of the Sheppard case on newspaper coverage of crime, especially in the cases of Richard F. Speck, James Earl Ray and Sirhan Bishara Sirhan. Sandra M. Siau, M.S., University of Kansas.

345 J. D. Salinger and the public. Randall Lee Troup, M.A., University of Georgia.

349 "The Home Towner": a compilation of columns written by Walter Humphrey, retired editor of The Fort Worth (Texas) Press. Diane Turner, M.A., East Texas State University.

372 McCall's under the editorship of Herbert R. Mayes: Nov., 1958 - Feb., 1962: A case study. Nguyen Duong Xuan, M.A., Indiana University.

375 History of The Preston County Journal. Patricia Ann Zinn, MSJ, West Virginia University.

See also Abstracts 14, 18, 22, 28, 70, 74, 90, 119, 122, 124, 138, 151, 180, 186, 216, 219, 222, 258, 277, 288, 326, 370

Abstract
Number

MAGAZINES

97 A Q-methodological study of editors' appraisals of the role of fiction in mass circulation magazines. George K. Beardsley, M.A., University of Missouri.

142 A content analysis of three women's magazines from 1960 to 1970. Rosemary B. Corsiglia, M.S., Iowa State University, 1971.

180 McClure's in fact and legend: Muckraking the muckraker historians. Jeanne G. Goldfarb, M.S., University of Kansas.

209 Catholic foreign mission magazines 1968. On the way to extinction? Lothar Janek, M.A., Syracuse, University.

249 An analysis of Apartment Living. Lawrence W. Messalt, M.A., University of Missouri.

258 Why magazines die: the case of The Saturday Evening Post. Kent C. Neal, M.A., University of Florida.

264 The performance of newsmagazines in addressing the social and ethical implications of science news. William R. Oates, M.A., Indiana University.

275 Vietnam 1958-1961 U.S. news magazine coverage. Paul Biery Parham, M.A., University of Missouri.

306 State conservation magazines 1964 and 1969. Donna Hurd Sanders, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

355 A content analysis of the pictorial coverage of the mentally ill in three national mass magazines, 1950-1967. Lyndell Dale Wallis, M.S., Kansas State University.

359 Time and the Vietnam war, 1965-1969. Frank Sanders Westling, M.A., University of North Carolina.

363 The airline in-flight magazine: a specialized communication and sales promotion medium. Eric Wayne Williams, M.A., University of Florida.

369 Newsweek's coverage of the Vietnam war, 1965-1969. Jack C. Woods, M.A., University of North Carolina.

373 A readership study of The Instructor magazine. Vern Maeser Young, M.A., Brigham Young University.

See also Abstracts 57, 243, 372

Abstract
Number

MEDIA MANAGEMENT AND PRODUCTION

8 Manager perceptions of differences in high and low creative personnel in broadcasting stations -- some dimensions. ElDean Bennett, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

131 Text composition and editing on computer video terminals. Jerry A. Carlson, M.S., Iowa State University.

324 Centralized newspaper publishing operations in Texas. Edward J. Smith, M.A., East Texas State University.

See also Abstracts 78, 82, 336, 361

MISCELLANEOUS

18 Elite Catholic newspapers of the United States. Alfred N. Delahaye, Ph.D., University of Missouri.

51 Variety as economic value: an approach to welfare through information theory. Philip James Owen, Ph.D., University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

77 A communications approach to the study of a natural resources issue: shoreland zoning in Wisconsin counties. William E. Witt, Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

150 This native land. Millard C. Davis, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

160 Wisconsin waterfowl hunter attitudes on regulations and management policies. Tim Eisele, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

329 A study of communications between institutions of higher education and private foundations for the purpose of raising funds. Jerold Glen Sorensen, M.A., University of Utah.

See also Abstract 289

PERSONNEL AND LABOR RELATIONS

82 Job opportunities for community college-trained journalists in Orange County manufacturing companies. Lynda E. Abrahms, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

195 An investigation of the role of the student employee in a college or university non-commercial television station. Mark Hathaway, M.A., Brigham Young University.

251 Hiring practices in selected advertising agencies -- 1969. Harry Curtis Miller, MSJ, West Virginia University.

Abstract
Number

PICTORIAL JOURNALISM

107 A study of silver recovery processes and comparative classification of silver recovery equipment for the graphic arts industry. Kenneth K. Bittner, M.S., South Dakota University.

120 Observed changes in the photography of Life magazine from 1937 through 1970. Benjamin Allen Breard, M.S., Syracuse University.

219 Photographic Resources in the Gernsheim collection for six nineteenth century wars. Cynthia Knight, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

226 Reporters with cameras: a comparison of photography systems. Alan K. Leahigh, M.A., University of Missouri.

310 The Milwaukee Journal's photojournalistic performance as compared to that of nine other metropolitan newspapers. Charles L. Scott, M.S., Ohio University.

365 The effectiveness of stylistic variations as connotative indices in photographic portraiture. Michael J. Williams, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

366 A study of the field-figure relationship in photographic connotation. Alfred Paul Wise, M.A., University of Georgia.

See also Abstracts 138, 300

PUBLIC OPINION AND PROPAGANDA

50 Effects of derogatory Soviet messages on opinions about U.S. - Soviet cooperation. Jack E. Orwant, Ph.D., University of Iowa.

106 Alcohol and the southern church: a survey of propaganda. Judy Alves Bisplinghoff, M.A., University of Georgia.

111 A study approximating the extent of propaganda in certain content of five major American daily newspapers. Edgar G. Bohner Jr., M.A., Louisiana State University.

138 The use of photography in Nazi propaganda under the third reich. Olaf Cimermanis, M.A., Syracuse University.

287 Tatzepao (Wall poster): its history and significance as a propaganda medium in Communist China. David Jim-tat Poon, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

Abstract
Number

PUBLIC RELATIONS

93 The role of higher education as seen by students, faculty, trustees and alumni and its effect on university relations. Robert M. Barr, M.A., The Ohio State University.

95 A study and critique of Cole National News: a house organ for the employees of Cole National Corporation, Cleveland, Ohio. Joseph Bauer, M.A., Kent State University.

113 Police-youth public relations in Los Angeles: youth attitudes toward police. Lynne Duncan Boomer, MSJ, West Virginia University.

118 Effective public information: an analysis of programs in California community colleges. Vincent Xavier Bradley, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

126 Interdisciplinary approach to fund raising: a case study. Herbert Malcolm Bybee, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

129 Projecting the Purex Corporation, Ltd. image in Australia. Donald A. Calhoun, M.A., California State College, Fullerton.

130 A study of the organization, duties, and responsibilities of public information offices in five state-supported colleges and universities in Texas. Hugh Campbell, M.A., East Texas State University.

134 A study of a public information plan for Thai government in Communist insurgent areas. Chintana Chaiyasena, M.A., Brigham Young University.

152 A critical analysis of the public affairs organization in U.S. Corporations. Joseph R. Dojcsak, M.A., University of Southern California.

156 An analysis of the staff responsible for press relations in congressional and senatorial offices. Guy Ducharme, M.A., University of Florida.

166 The image of public relations and its practitioners presented by novelists, 1955-1970. Carole Lee Fetterman, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

173 A profile of the public information and education function of safety councils in Florida, with emphasis upon representative programs of major councils. Daniel Joseph Garcia, M.A., University of Florida.

175 A history of the sports information department at the University of Oklahoma. Robert Brooks Garner, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

177 The development of the public relations department at the assemblies of god international headquarters. Thomas Algerd Gerdis Jr., M.S., Kansas State University.

182 An attitude study of a selected group of air force officers toward the United States air force information program. Gary A. Gosdin, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

197 Employee communications as a function of public relations in a small company. Michael Lee Herman, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

Abstract
Number

206 A survey of the characteristics and functions of selected Oregon company and institutional publications as perceived by editors and management. Mark Howard, M.S., University of Oregon.

304 A study of public relations programs in public junior colleges in Texas. Michael P. Ryan, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

308 Public relations and its advances toward professionalism. Lauralee Sawyer, M.A., Ohio State University.

342 An analysis of the public relations activities utilized by the Department of Defense during the Dugway Sheep Incident of 1968. Arthur Robert Tilford, M.A., Brigham Young University.

352 The organization and operation of communication programs of selected metropolitan chambers of commerce in the United States. Charles Henri Van Rysselberge, M.A., University of Georgia.

210 Public relations programs in community colleges in Washington and Oregon. Maynard Francis Jensen, M.S., University of Oregon.

222 Survival equals success: history of the U.S. Navy public information specialty, 1945-1964. Charles W. Larson II, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

233 Use of public relations tools by members of the Florida Association of Realtors. F.M. Lloyd, M.A., University of Florida.

260 A police-community relations program for Athens, Georgia. Joseph N. Nix Jr., M.A., University of Georgia.

261

280 Attitudinal effects of a military orientation conference on community leaders. Dale K. Patterson, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

292 A public relations trade journal's service to practitioners as a measure of professionalism. Frank F. Rathbun, M.A., University of Florida.

332 A cost-conscious study of methods to achieve maximum exposure in technical or trade publications from news releases on a company's products and literature. Albert William Stewart, M.A., University of Oklahoma.

See also Abstracts 136, 146, 169, 299, 312, 319, 329, 363

RADIO, TELEVISION AND FILM

38 An exploratory investigation of cross-modality cueing and stimulus-response associations in selected ITV programs. Kenneth J. Ksobiech, Ph.D., Indiana University.

68 Alienation and attitudes toward radio. Roger A. Skolnik, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

114 Television, the older adolescent, and respect. Ann N. Bottorff, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

Abstract Number

119 A study of the Southern Educational Communications Association in development of the south's regional public television network. Yolande Vandeveer Branham, M.A., University of Georgia.

125 The programming of the educational (noncommercial) radio stations in California. Robert Gillman Burningham, M.A., Brigham Young University.

135 The public's perception of TV violence. Philip H. Cheng, M.A., Southern Illinois University.

139 A study comparing the teaching effectiveness of radio and television presentational techniques among college students. Robert L. Clark, M.A., Brigham Young University.

141 The effect of reinforcing versus non-reinforcing visuals on recall from a television news program. Stephen C. Coon, M.A., Iowa State University.

146 A study and analysis of commercial airlines entertainment systems. Charles G. Curtis Jr., M.A., Brigham Young University.

149 A content analysis of editorials about politics broadcast on WFBM-TV, Indianapolis, 1965-1968. Philip H. Davidson, M.A., Indiana University.

153 Survey of screen writing courses offered in U.S. colleges and universities. John Charles Doolittle, M.A., University of Georgia.

163 The use of television as a medium for agricultural extension services; a case study. Margaret Cole Eppes, M.A., University of Florida.

167 A comparative study of broadcasting research in some commonwealth African countries during the period 1960-65. Joseph W.O. Findlay Jr., M.A., University of Iowa.

169 Television news and its relation to the college information program. Murrell D. Foster, M.S., East Texas State University.

190 A descriptive study of behavioral objectives as applied to the writing of scripts for instructional radio. Wendell Reed Hanson, M.A., Brigham Young University.

208 Tennessee Williams' Hello From Bertha: a comparison of production elements for television and theatre. Donald George Jackson Jr., M.A., University of Florida.

230 The effect of influential variables on local television news selection. Joseph Anthony Lilli II, M.A., University of Missouri.

237 A content analysis of regional and state news items cleared between midnight and noon on the Iowa AP broadcast wire. John W. Lytle, M.S., Iowa State University.

241 The image study as a basic public relations study. Charles R. Mauldin, M.A., University of Missouri.

246 Syndicated radio: a marketing study. Lawrence L. Melear Jr., M.A., University of Georgia.

Abstract Number

256 A study of the video portion of television newscasting. Fred L. Morache, M.A., University of Missouri.

261 News and non-news in the electronic age. Michael John Nolan, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

272 A study of attitudes toward instructional television in the advanced training of commissioned officers at air command and staff college, air university. Howard Sidney Pactor, M.A., University of Florida.

303 The production of an experimental film about the environment. William E. Ruth, M.S., University of Wisconsin.

307 Effects of television news item position on viewer evaluation of news item importance. Joseph L. Sanders, M.A., University of Florida.

333 The development of local program origination on cable television: a case study. Richard Allen Stone, M.A., University of California, Los Angeles.

341 An audience study of WGTV in the Atlanta area. Charles Sealy Thorp Jr., M.A., University of Georgia.

344 A system proposal for a centralized instructional television facility for United States Army installations on the island of Oahu. Stephen C. Treseder, M.A., Brigham Young University.

350 Adolescent television habits as related to the popular and unpopular adolescent and their viewing patterns. Stephen Whitworth Turner, M.A., University of Georgia.

356 Some effects of "missing the television" on family interaction. Judith K. Walters, M.A., University of Wisconsin.

358 The meanings radio has for teenagers. Neal T. Weintraub, M.A., Ohio State.University.

362 Evaluation of the communiques and teacher aids of the Georgia educational television network in-school series. Susan Annette Wilkinson, M.A., University of Georgia.

370 Experiences in filming Brett Weston, Photographer, for the film "Beyond Realism." Arthur Edwin Wright, M.S., University of Oregon.

See also Abstracts 8, 16, 20, 25, 27, 30, 35, 37, 43, 86, 128, 137, 144, 147, 155, 157, 188, 195, 199, 231, 242, 244, 247, 253, 263, 283, 311, 321, 331, 346

RESEARCH METHODS

164 A comparative study of three readability methods in an intergroup communication situation. Sandra B. Ernst, M.S., Kansas State University.

See also Abstracts 76, 79, 89, 97, 110, 241, 271, 298

Abstract
Number

SPECIAL MINORITIES

186 The Forward Times of Houston, Texas. Charles William Grose, M.A., The University of Texas at Austin.

216 Richard Wright as Black journalist. Louise Gwendolyn King, M.A., University of California, Los Angeles.

225 A content analysis of news of Black Americans as presented by The Wichita Eagle and a comparison with empirical data. Robert Lehman Latta, M.S., Kansas State University.

227 The 1967 Detroit riot: a response to crisis. Cynthia S. H. Lee, M.A., Michigan State University.

242 The impact of TV in the Ghetto. Robert G. McCartney, M.A., Indiana University.

253 Racial relations in recent motion pictures as seen from the critic's standpoint. Lawrence Eugene Mitchell Jr., M.A., University of Georgia.

263 A study of audience responses to Black actors in television dramas and commercials. Ikechukwu Christopher Nwobodo, M.S., Iowa State University.

270 Frederick Douglass: Black Abolitionist and journalist. Sam Oni, M.J., University of California, Berkeley.

288 The Black press in America before the emancipation. Charles W. Porter, M.A., University of Alabama.

See also Abstracts 328, 340

VISUAL COMMUNICATION

59 The influence of design symmetry and contour on eye fixations and judgments of perceived complexity, interestingness and pleasingness. George B. Robeck, Ph.D., Michigan State University.

100 Elements of style in the cartoons of Gahan Wilson. Thomas G. Belt, M.A., University of Missouri.

331 An investigation of hand gesture as nonverbal communication. Peter John Stephano, M.A., University of Iowa.